Analyze how institutional and structural hierarchies create healthy or unhealthy populations and individuals. Students will critically examine the health sciences and public health in the US and Latin America.

LTNS 467.01: Caribbeans in the U.S.
Class #: 6828
GE: UD-D: Social Sciences, Global Perspectives, Social Justice

The upcoming film In The Heights tells the story of Washington Heights, a Caribbean enclave in New York. This class will cover the history of migration from Cuba, Puerto Rico, Haiti, Panama, and the Dominican Republic to the U.S.

LTNS 210.03: Latinx Health Care Perspectives
Class #: 11275
GE: B2: Life Science, AERM, Environmental Sustainability, Global Perspectives, Social Justice

Analyze how institutional and structural hierarchies create healthy or unhealthy populations and individuals. Students will critically examine the health sciences and public health in the US and Latin America.

LTNS 536.01: Latinx Journalism
Class #: 10442

Whether through corridos, radio, newspapers, or photos, journalism has historically been a way to engage in activism and build community. This class provides students an opportunity to learn this history & contribute to a Latinx community newspaper.